

A sparse programme intervenes on the initial world model one locus at a time a Five task families form the entity / ontology backbone b Sparse locus-specific blocks c Evidence partitions

d Planned block denominators

World programmability defines the intervention space; validation, matched arms and separate denominators preserve causal interpretability.