

A sparse programme intervenes on the initial world model one locus at a time a Five task families form the entity / ontology backbone b Study A: sparse locus-specific blocks c Evidence partitions

Evaluator outcomes remain hidden during each session d Planned block denominators clusters · sessions · experiments Evaluator counts follow the prespecified design

World programmability defines the intervention space; validation, matched arms and separate denominators preserve causal interpretability.